

The Future of Substantive Due Process: What Are the Stakes?

Cosponsored by the National Civil Justice Institute and SMU Dedman School of Law

March 31-April 1, 2023

SMU Dedman School of Law
3315 Daniel Avenue, Dallas, TX 75205
Keynote by Dean Erwin Chemerinsky (UC Berkeley)

An academic symposium for attorneys, law professors and students, judges and law clerks, and public officials. Topics and faculty subject to change.

SDP Topics

- The importance of the SDP doctrine to our democracy
- Secrecy and transparency in litigation
- Challenges in litigating civil rights claims
- The role of state constitutions and state courts
- The substance of rights to and in courts
- End-of-life care
- An historical analysis
- Civil right to counsel
- The fundamental right to free movement
- The “originalism” argument
- Individual vs. states’ rights in gender/reproductive issues
- Academic freedom in public universities

Academic Faculty

Dustin Benham (Texas Tech)	Nancy Leong (Denver)
Paul Bland (Public Justice)	Robin Maril (Willamette)
Kathy Cerminara (NSU Florida)	Jonathan Marshfield (Florida)
Erwin Chemerinsky (UC Berkeley)	John Pollock (NCCRC)
Simona Grossi (Loyola Los Angeles)	Judith Resnik (Yale)
Helen Hershkoff (NYU)	Noah Smith-Drelich (Chicago Kent)
Johanna Kalb (Idaho)	Paul Smith (Georgetown)
Joseph Kobylka (SMU)	Stephen Vladeck (Texas)

FEES AND REGISTRATION

Free to judges, academics, law students, public officials, and NCJI Fellows.

All others: $250 – full symposium / $150 – 1 day

- CLE accreditation pending
- For more details contact info@ncji.org or 202-944-2841
<https://ncji.org/the-future-of-substantive-due-process>

